Prior to his appointment on the Public Protection Cabinet he was an associate in Stoll Keenon Ogden’s Louisville office. Barry received a law degree from the University of Louisville Brandeis School of Law, where he was named outstanding graduate. He also served as president of the Moot Court Board, notes editor for the University of Louisville Law Review, and was a two-time member of the National Moot Court Team. Before attending law school, Barry taught eighth-grade social studies and interned for two members of the U.S. Congress. He was honored as a Rising Star by Kentucky Super Lawyers. Barry serves as a member of the Brandeis School’s Alumni Council. He enjoys sports and politics and spending time with his wife, Leslie, and three sons.

Jim Szofer
Jim Szofer grew up in Toledo and Maumee, Ohio. He graduated from the University of Toledo with a degree in chemical engineering. Before retiring in 2010, Jim spent his career working for Owens-Illinois, Petrolite, Borden, VITOK Engineers, and Zeochem. Jim now does consulting work for CFW Associated Engineers. Jim became involved with the Masons and Shriners in 2009, when he acted as the director of the Motor Corps and as director of the Uniformed Bodies. He also sits on the Board of Governors at Lexington Shrine Hospital for Children. Jim has been married to his wife, Barb, for 31 years. They have seven children, nine grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Larry Craig
Larry Craig is the owner of Craig and Landreth Cars, a multi-million-dollar business that he built over 40 years from an attached trailer and two cars to a six-location business and a Chrysler-Dodge dealership. Larry is past president of the Greater Louisville Automobile Dealer Association and was chairman of the Kentucky Automobile Dealer Association in 2007. Since 1998, Larry has acted as the Jefferson County representative to the State of Kentucky Motor Vehicle Association advocating for dealers and consumers. Craig and Landreth Cars creates opportunities for the automobile sales community to give back by participating in fund-raising and awareness events and by donating to different causes, including Kosair Charities.
Meet Kosair Kid®
Molly Turner

Molly Turner began having seizures almost immediately after she was born in July 2009. The third child of Chris and Elizabeth Turner, she spent the first month of her life highly sedated and on a feeding tube in the neonatal intensive care unit while doctors tried to get her seizures under control. Though Molly went home in September of that year, she was frequently in and out of the hospital. Genetic testing when she was 5 years old confirmed Molly has a de novo KCNQ2 mutation. This uncommon mutation has been linked to infant seizures and significant developmental delays. Her parents joined an online support group for families dealing with this condition and learned there are only around 250 cases worldwide.

Now 6 years old, Molly may not be verbal or mobile and is visually impaired, but she is otherwise healthy and full of energy. A nonstop smile machine, Molly is constantly bouncing around in her chair, and she happily engages with the people around her. She loves reading, listening to music and watching television or movies. She can say “Hi” and her family hopes she will one day be able to communicate by pressing phrases or photos on a tablet designed for the disabled.

"Progress is there," Elizabeth says. "It’s just slow. She really is just so content. Her smile—she lights up a room with it. If only I could just bottle that energy and sell it . . .”

A safe place

Molly was selected to receive a custom-made dream playhouse through a partnership involving the Building Industry Charitable Foundation of the Building Industry Association of Greater Louisville, Kosair Charities and YouthBuild Louisville.

The design of the playhouse was based on input from therapists who see its value as a tool for improving mobility and functioning. But Elizabeth sees the structure as a sanctuary, a place where her daughter can go to escape from the physical therapy chairs and other equipment she is constantly training on. It is a place where she can feel like any other kid.

It is also a place she can share with the people around her. Elizabeth chose yellow as the main color and asked for a gender-neutral design. “As my son ages, I don't want him to feel embarrassed about going in there,” she explains.

Molly is close to her siblings, C.J and Abby, who are 3 years and 15 months older than her, respectively. All three Turner children go to Harmony Elementary School in Goshen, where the family lives. Elizabeth says having the kids attend the same school—even though Molly is in the special education program and will never share the same teachers—was important to the family for the sake of bonding. Abby reads to Molly every day, and C.J. always takes time to play with his little sister.

“Having a sibling with special needs is not easy,” acknowledges Elizabeth.

Closing the gap
They too deserve a space they can share with their sister.

Elizabeth says: “When I look at the developmental milestones and abilities of my children, I see that gap between them is getting bigger. If I can close that in any way by giving them a place to go where they have something to do, that is everything.”

Thanks to Kosair Charities, she will be able to.

“Along with our family and friends, our Kosair family is truly our lifeline and support,” Elizabeth says. “Molly allows me to see the ability in her disabilities every day, and I thank God for that gift.”
For six years running, young men and women at YouthBuild Louisville have made custom dream playhouses for Kosair Kids® (see pages 4-5). But this is just the beginning of the transformative, skill-building and educational programming offered by the local nonprofit organization.

YouthBuild focuses on unemployed young people between the ages of 16 and 24. More than 90 percent are black. Three-fourths are high school dropouts. More than half—about 60 percent—have children of their own. The 15-year-old nonprofit provides these at-risk individuals with education, counseling and job training in the promising career fields of nursing, construction, culinary arts and environmental conservation.

Through YouthBuild, students can earn their GED and train to become a certified nursing assistant who is prepared to work at a hospital or nursing home; they can learn valuable horticulture skills that lead to a full-time job in gardening; or they can work with career counselors to determine what career would be ideal for them and map out a plan to get there.

Currently, YouthBuild serves about 50 people annually through its year-round programming and about 50 more during the summer. According to Lynn Rippy, YouthBuild Louisville executive director, the organization hopes to increase those numbers in the years to come. The need is there—more than 200 applications are received each year.

Green Campus

One thing that will help YouthBuild increase its capacity is the completion of its Green Campus. Located on a formerly vacant and blighted lot in the historically black neighborhood of Smoketown, the Green Campus will be a LEED-certified “living laboratory and incubator.” The spacious campus includes a 5,000-square-foot education building that will house classrooms, offices and meeting spaces, as well as ample outdoor space for hands-on learning environments such as organic gardens, chicken coops, and an “agri-art barn.”

“With more space, we will be able to grow,” Rippy says. “We’ll be able to serve more young people.”

Kosair Charities has provided YouthBuild with a $25,000 grant to aid in the construction of the Green Campus. Ground was broken on the main building in early April and the entire campus is scheduled for completion around the end of this year.

Partnerships

More than 88 percent of YouthBuild participants leave the program placed at a job or enrolled in college. Altogether, participants have earned more than $873,000 in scholarships. Many factors contribute to this high rate of success, but one key factor is YouthBuild’s ability to partner with the right organizations to provide the right resources and worthwhile opportunities.

For the dream playhouse project, YouthBuild has partnered with the Building Industry Association of Greater Louisville and Kosair Charities to provide a source of joy and therapy-aid for Kosair Kids® struggling with quality-of-life issues as a result of medical conditions.

Participants spend months building the custom-designed playhouses. They gain valuable skills they can use to find future employment. But just as important, Rippy says, is the mental journey that comes with being involved with a good cause.

“They are giving back to someone in incredible need, someone with greater needs than themselves,” she says. “They see outside themselves.”

During construction, the YouthBuild students sign each board. While the boards are eventually covered by paint or decorations, it is the students’ way of leaving a mark on a one-of-a-kind project that will help better a child’s quality of life. Adds Rippy, “It’s a sense of pride for them.”

And for YouthBuild, it’s proof that the partnership is flourishing.

“YouthBuild Louisville honors our partnership with Kosair Charities and Building Industry Charitable Foundation to support our communities’ children,” Rippy says. “Kosair understands what families need to thrive!”
Corporate Kite Club Member Spotlight
Mister “P” Express

Allan Parnell sweeps his hand across his Jeffersonville, Ind., office and toward the window overlooking a fleet of shiny red tractor trailers. “Look at all this we have. This nice office, great equipment, 35 acres of land. The Lord’s hand has been on our company, and I think it’s because we give.”

Allan, his wife Bunny, and his daughter Cindy Collier started Mister “P” Express with only three leased trucks in 1987. With a difficult start and a small staff, the company grew through hard work and perseverance. Now, Cindy serves as president and CEO while Allan is chairman. They oversee a fleet of 150 trucks, 300 employees and sales that continue to climb.

Cindy and Allan have made philanthropy a cornerstone of their business. They began supporting Kosair Charities in 2004. “I first got involved by being a member of the Louisville Rotary Club with (Kosair Charities President) Randy Coe,” Allan said. “He’s a giving person, and that’s contagious. Just being around him, I wanted to be part of what he was doing.”

In addition to giving generously both personally and through Mister “P” Express, Allan and Cindy were also instrumental in the success of our first annual Pie Auction, held in November 2015. Allan also serves as a charity auctioneer and Cindy often jumps in to help work the crowd and call out bids. [Read more about our Pie Auction in the sidebar on page 9]

“The reason I support Kosair Charities is the children they help,” Cindy said. “Now that I’m a grandmother, I’m even more overwhelmed by all the need and by all the good Kosair Charities does do to help children and families. Kosair Kids need help and no one will help if you don’t!” Allan chimed in, “Kosair Charities is all the things I want to do, so I want to give to you.”

But why give back through your business? Allan said: “If you’ve been blessed, you’ve got to be a blessing to others. If you’re in business, you’ve got to help other people. We’re responsible, as Christians especially, to...”

“You give because it’s the right thing to do—but people want to do business with generous people, so it comes back to you.”

— Allan Parnell
help others. I personally have been a tither for years and I believe your business should tithe too, at least 10 percent. And I’m happy that Cindy has followed in my footsteps by giving back. She’s a very generous, loving, compassionate person, and I’m proud of her.”

We think Allan, Cindy and our friends at Mister “P” Express are an inspiration and a true example of corporate philanthropy. We are proud to count Mister “P” Express as an exemplary member of our new Corporate Kite Club and a champion of Kosair Kids!

Kosair Kids® were ‘Merry and Bright!’

On Dec. 6, over 400 children and their families attended the annual Kosair Kids® Holiday Party at the Crowne Plaza in Louisville. The party seemed to be as much fun for the staff, volunteers and parents as it was for the kids. Milk, cookies, cupcakes and donuts were sweet treats for everyone to enjoy.

Each child received one wrapped toy, a set of wrapped books, a stuffed animal provided by The Louisville Zoo and a hand-crocheted hat in the color of their choice. Kids also had the chance to win a new bike and helmet and other small prizes while playing “Winter Wonderland” games. Combine the gifts and games with face painting, crafts, a slow motion video booth, meet and greets with Santa and Mrs. Claus, and the opportunity to pet live animals from the zoo, and our Kosair Kids® were sure to be entertained all morning.

Thank you to all who all made this party possible. Because of you, Kosair Charities received the greatest gift of all this holiday season—seeing Kosair Kids® smile.
Thank you to the following organizations and individuals for making the 2015 Kosair Kids® Holiday Party an overwhelming success.

- Thorntons: Donated 50 dozen donuts
- The Louisville Zoo: Donated 500 Stuffed Animals, and brought live animals for the children to pet.
- V3 Jeep Shop: Donated 100 Bikes
- Wayne Whitworth and his Elves: Donated a significant amount of toys.
- Rhonda Drake and family: Made and donated colorful winter hats.
- Kosair Shrine Temple’s Roustabouts: Helped to haul all of the toys, books, stuffed animals and party supplies to and from the Crowne Plaza.
- Epilepsy Foundation: Donated over 60 helmets.
- Sproutlings, Keller Williams Realty, Life Safety Services, & River Road Asset Management: Donated toys.
- Director staff ladies: Sponsored the “Rockin’ around the Christmas Tree” booth.
- Kosair Charities volunteers: Helped set up, run and tear down the party.
- All of our other community partners who donated bikes, toys, books and bears in 2015.
Kosair Charities expands Mission Advancement staff to better serve donors

A message from Theresa Raidy, Senior Vice President – Mission Advancement

It is my pleasure to introduce you to the newest members of our talented Mission Advancement team, three of whom have joined us this winter. We recently reorganized and expanded our staff in order to enhance donor relations services and to educate more people about the many options for supporting Kosair Kids®.

You, our donors and advocates, are the lifeblood of the Kosair Charities mission. Without your generosity, the ability of Kosair Charities to serve children in need would be greatly diminished. Mission Advancement’s goal is to provide the highest-quality philanthropic experience to every donor, no matter the size of your gift.

This is a very exciting time at Kosair Charities. The level of professionalism and commitment to mission is extremely high through all departments. All of us here are eager to work alongside you to ensure that the needs of Kosair Kids® are being met now and long into the future.

Sommer Lally, Director of Special Campaigns

Sommer Lally joined the Kosair Charities’ development team in January as Director of Special Campaigns. Sommer will lead our workplace campaigns, special online giving promotions and the launch of our new monthly giving club. She brings with her eight years of fundraising and development experience with some of the most-recognized nonprofits locally and nationally, including St. Jude Children’s Research Hospital, Metro United Way, and YMCA of Greater Louisville. Sommer grew up in Harrodsburg, Ky., and is a 2007 graduate of Centre College. She and her husband, Drew, enjoy UK basketball and chasing after their 3-year old son, Owen. She is passionate about helping kids in our community lead healthy and successful lives. Sommer welcomes hearing from you if you’re interested in starting a workplace campaign for Kosair Charities or would like to learn more about making a monthly gift to Kosair Charities.

Melissa Kratzer, Director of Development

Melissa Kratzer joined our team in late November. She focuses on helping our donors with bequests, charitable gift annuities, IRA charitable rollovers, beneficiary designations, and other planned gifts that enable ordinary folks to leave an extraordinary legacy of helping Kosair Kids®. Melissa comes to us from a partner agency, The Food Literacy Project at Oxmoor Farm, and has also worked at Wellspring and WaterStep. She is a graduate of Centre College and plans to complete a Master of Nonprofit Administration degree from the Notre Dame College of Business this summer. Melissa is passionate about making our community a better place and helping people make a difference through their gifts. She would love to meet you! You can reach her at (502) 637-7696 or mkratzer@kosair.org.

Kate Biagi-Rickert, Director of Community Engagement

Kate Biagi-Rickert is the new Director of Community Engagement at Kosair Charities. Kate works with businesses, volunteers, and individuals who are advancing our mission of “better tomorrows” for our community’s children with special needs. Kate has more than 10 years in the nonprofit sector, where she worked with organizations in St. Louis and New York City before moving back home to Kentucky. Before joining Kosair Charities, Kate was community outreach coordinator at St. Joseph Children’s Home.

Kate received her Bachelor of Social Work and Bachelor of Business Management from Saint Louis University before attending Columbia University in New York City to earn her Master in Social Work Management.

In her free time, Kate enjoys cooking for friends and family, reading, and training for sprint triathlons.
HOW TO MAKE A BEQUEST

A bequest is one of the easiest gifts you can make to significantly impact our work. Your estate planning attorney can include a provision in your will that leaves a lasting gift to our organization. Your bequest could be a gift of specific assets (such as a vehicle, artwork, or coin collection), a dollar amount, or a percentage of your estate. A bequest could also be made from the residue of your estate - what is left after all gifts have been made to your heirs. Don’t have an estate planning attorney? We can connect you with a trusted advisor.

DO YOU EVER WONDER WHAT THE FUTURE HOLDS?

While it’s impossible to know or control what happens in the future, you can have security about achieving your ultimate goals by making a plan.

Planning is one way to create a secure future for you and your loved ones. With a good plan, you can rest easy knowing that your family will be well cared for and your property will pass to your intended beneficiaries.

BEQUEST BENEFITS

A charitable bequest or beneficiary designation gift is an easy way for you to help Kosair Kids. Here are some of the many benefits:

• Your gift costs you nothing today
• Your gift is free of federal and estate tax
• You can change your mind later
• You can still benefit your heirs with specific gifts
• You can leave a beautiful legacy of helping children

BENEFICIARY DESIGNATION GIFTS

It’s easy to designate beneficiaries for assets that are not transferred through a will. For example, you can designate Kosair Charities as a beneficiary of your retirement assets, life insurance policy, bank accounts and investment funds by completing a simple form.

Contact your account administrator to designate us as a beneficiary of these assets. Reach out to us to let us know how you would like your gift to be used and so we can thank you for helping kids in need!
Corporate Kite Club: A high-flying partnership

Kosair Charities is offering a new opportunity for businesses to not only support Kosair Kids® but also to have their commitment to the community recognized. Since 1923, businesses have worked with Kosair Charities to continue our mission: protecting the health and well-being of children in Kentucky and Southern Indiana. Saying “Thank you” goes a long way, but acknowledging their generosity goes even further. Therefore, in 2015, Kosair Charities founded the Corporate Kite Club (CKC).

Kosair Charities has a special way to thank members of the Corporate Kite Club. On average, there are 60 Kosair Charities events annually; therefore, a CKC pull-up banner is displayed at every event to promote these amazing organizations. Giving to Kosair Charities is now comparable to sponsoring 60 events in a year! From expos and festivals to the annual Gifts & Grants Celebration, the CKC will be recognized. Members are also given a CKC plaque to display in their office and are listed in the Kosair Charities Gifts & Grants report.

To take it one step further, Kosair Charities is investing in marketing opportunities for ads in major publications, listings on our website, and posts in social media. The Kosair Charities Facebook page has over 25,000 likes as of March 2016. We are so thankful for our CKC members and proud of these valued relationships that we want the entire community to learn about their contributions. Giving to Kosair Charities is a win-win for businesses and Kosair Kids®.

CKC membership is renewed on a fiscal basis in October with a cumulative yearly donation or sponsorship of at least $5,000. All members are “one” in the CKC but vary on how they contribute to our mission. Typically, there are three different ways an organization supports Kosair Charities: Giving an annual donation, offering a sponsorship, or planning a fundraiser within their organization. This structure gives an organization of any size the opportunity to join the CKC.

Park Community Credit Union offers a Kosair-themed debit card to their members; 100 percent of all $5 donations benefit Kosair Charities. “At Park, part of our fundamental mission is to work for the success of our members and our communities,” Jim Spradlin of Park Community Credit Union said. “For many years, we have had a valuable relationship with Kosair Charities through our charity debit card program. We feel that this gives us the chance to give back to those in our communities that need a helping hand. Our organization considers it an honor to work with Kosair Charities and to have the opportunity to make a positive difference in the lives of those that Kosair Charities serves.”

Epic Insurance Solutions has collaborated with Kosair Charities to produce Capes for Camp. “We are very proud here at Epic Insurance Solutions to partner with Kosair Charities to provide the resources and money to help send these great kids to Camp Quality for a week,” Don Thompson of Epic Insurance Solutions said. “We love Capes for Camp!”

Currently, over 42 organizations are members of the inaugural Corporate Kite Club. If your organization is interested in joining the CKC, please contact Erin Fowler at (502) 637-7696 or efowler@kosair.org.
