Dreams Take Flight
Dear Friends of Kosair Charities

Since 1923, Kosair Charities has had only one primary mission: Helping children in need. Kosair Charities knows that the quality of a child’s tomorrow depends largely on the quality of health care, medical treatment, and support that a child receives today.

My Kosair….represents how Kosair Charities has touched the lives of thousands of children and their families…… It’s what we do and who we are!

My Kosair…..may mean many things to different people. To Kosair Charities it represents our commitment of making the Dreams of all of our Kosair Kids come true……

The Dreams of being able to run and play with other children.

The Dreams of being able to hear, speak and to see God’s creations.

The Dreams of being free from Cancer or Heart Disease.

The Dreams of being free from abuse and neglect.

The Dreams that every parent or grandparent has for the child they love.

Since the 1920’s, Kosair Charities has awarded more than $335 million to serve thousands of children through pediatric organizations or on an individual basis. The Kosair name has become synonymous with the highest quality pediatric healthcare in the Kentuckiana area.

Kosair Kids need our help more than ever before.

This year, with the help of our 2600 Kosair Shriners and thousands of generous donors, Kosair Charities will provide an additional $17 million for the children and families throughout Kentucky and Southern Indiana.

So when you think of Kosair… think Kosair Charities

Sincerely,

Jerry W. Ward, Chairman
Kosair Charities Committee, Inc.
Elizabeth Bromley was born with several health issues, from a heart condition to chronic lung disease and digestive problems.

The state’s First Steps program, which provides in-home therapy, helped cover her health care costs through age 3. But Elizabeth needed continued therapy, and by 2007, her parents, Jennifer and Greg Bromley, had exhausted the lifetime benefits on their health insurance plan.

They contacted Kosair Charities, which stepped up to cover Elizabeth’s therapy at the Kids Center for Pediatric Therapies and Green Hill. Kosair Charities covered those expenses for three years until 2011, when the health insurance reform law removed lifetime limits. Now Kosair Charities picks up the $35 co-pay.

“For three years, she was having therapy five days a week, and $35 per visit adds up,” Jennifer says. “If it weren’t for Kosair Charities’ generosity, I don’t know where we’d be.”

Coming through scary times

Elizabeth was born with chronic lung disease and still needs oxygen at night. She has a shunt in her brain and relies on a feeding tube. She has had numerous surgeries, and a year ago, she was hospitalized with a severe lung infection.

That hospital visit lasted three months, “That was the scariest time in her seven years,” Jennifer says.

She's doing better now, and enjoying being in second grade at Tully Elementary. Thanks to her physical therapy, she is a cheerleader at the Kids Center, rides a bike and participates in soccer skills classes. Elizabeth is a very social and happy child, her mother says, and always wakes up with a smile. “If we had a child who was depressed, it would be harder,” she says. “Her positive attitude helps us all make it through day to day.”

The new cover girl

This summer, Elizabeth was the proud recipient of a custom playhouse, through a partnership between Kosair Charities and the Homebuilders Association of Louisville’s Building Industry Charitable Foundation. Hers is yellow and pink with white trim. It has a loft and a TV and DVD player. The family enjoys camping, but that required hauling a generator to operate Elizabeth’s feeding pump. Now they have a perfect spot.

Elizabeth is also Kosair Charities’ newest cover girl. She shot a TV spot and will soon appear on billboards and bus ads.

Jennifer and Greg are so grateful to the charities for filling the gaps in Elizabeth’s health coverage.

“If it wasn’t for Kosair Charities,” Jennifer says, “Elizabeth would not be as strong and would not be doing nearly as well as she is doing now.”
Meet Kosair Kids
Josh & Nicholas Corbett

When Todd and Robin Corbett adopted twin 18-month-old boys from Ukraine, the youngsters had some catching up to do.

Josh and Nicholas are autistic and have cerebral palsy. Their development was further delayed from spending their lives in an orphanage.

Since joining their new family in Louisville, the twins (who just turned 10) have received extensive physical, speech and occupational therapy, both at home and at the Kids Center for Pediatric Therapies on the Kosair Charities campus.

“They needed a lot of help to catch up to their peers, but they are doing very well,” Robin says.

Pedaling to better health

The Kids Center connection led the Corbetts to Kosair Charities, which paid for the expensive adaptive bicycle their therapist recommended. It’s helped the youngsters get stronger and do normal kid stuff, their mother says. At first they could barely pedal it, but now they ride alone.

Josh and Nicholas spend three hours a week at the Kids Center.

“The therapists are part of our family now,” Robin says.

“They get excited about going to therapy.”

The boys are fraternal twins and have distinctly different personalities. Josh, whose milder condition allows him to walk, is extremely outgoing, loves to sing (he sings in his church choir) and hugs everyone he sees.

Nicholas, who uses a walker or wheelchair, is more laid-back. He also loves to sing, but prefers “high fives” to hugs.

One thing they agree on: They love the new playhouse in their backyard.

The twins’ castle

The Corbetts were pleasantly surprised when Kosair Charities selected them to receive a custom playhouse through a partnership between Kosair Charities and the Homebuilders Association of Louisville’s Building Industry Charitable Foundation.

It’s 10x16 and modeled on a castle, with a 12-foot peak, wide doorway and hand rails. It accommodates several people, and has helped the boys meet other neighborhood kids. “It gives them something to break the ice,” Robin says.

There are personal touches. For Nicholas, there’s a disco ball, colored lights and glow-in-the-dark stars on the ceiling. Josh loves puppets, and there are shelves full of them.

Each wall is painted in a different bright color, each with a different theme, from Sponge Bob to Spider-Man and Mickey and Minnie Mouse.

And there’s a karaoke machine. “If it weren’t for Kosair Charities, Josh and Nicholas would not have progressed nearly as far as they have,” Robin says. “They’ve helped us tremendously.”
An Unlikely Pair Partner for the Kids

Both Shiners and the Knights of Columbus have always been known for their great work and leadership in the community and with charity, but it is not common for these two groups to work together. In Elizabethtown however, they have been working together to raise money for the kids of Kosair Charities since 1965 with their annual Brotherhood Banquet.

This collaboration began many years ago when Knights of Columbus member Tom Clark Sr. and Riasok Shrine Club member Bill Harris were trying to find a way come together for the common good. They found that both organizations supported Kosair Charities, so they decided to unite for a fundraiser to support Kosair Kids. Although both Tom and Bill have passed on, their vision of partnership remains a great tradition with the two groups as they continue to help Kosair Charities protect the most precious gift of all.

The 2012 banquet which included a lovely dinner, dancing, and auction raised over $21,000 for Kosair Charities. “We are very grateful for the support from the Riasok Shrine Club and The Knights of Columbus. Kosair Charities helps over 150,000 children each year, and without these wonderful organizations, and others like them this wouldn’t be possible,” said Kosair Charities Director of Communication, Karen Ernspiker. “We look forward to many more years of this incredible partnership.”

On February 23rd, 2013 the Riasok Shrine Club and the Elizabethtown Council 1455 of the Knights of Columbus will yet again come together for the 48th annual Brotherhood Banquet in Elizabethtown, KY. Tickets for the 2013 Brotherhood Banquet are $40 per couple.

Together, we can make a difference.

John J. Buchino M.D.
Roger Fox Award

Dr. John Buchino began his education in Connecticut and graduated from the University of Louisville’s School of Medicine. He completed his pediatric residency at Children’s Hospital Medical in Cincinnati. He followed this with his Anatomic Pathology residency with the Department of Pathology at the University of Cincinnati and a career development fellowship with Pediatric Pathology with Children’s Hospital Medical Center.

His academic appointments began with that of Assistant Instructor with the Department of Pathology at the University of Cincinnati and he is now Professor Emeritus with the Departments of Pediatrics and Pathology at the University of Louisville. He has served as President of the Kosair Children’s Medical Staff, and has been involved with the Kentucky Society of Pathologists and the Society for Pediatric Pathology. His commitments to Kosair Children’s Hospital and the University of Louisville have allowed him to serve most all committees, generally as chair. In addition, his volunteerism with his church and community groups has been acknowledged with awards of recognition for his time and talents.

John was a pioneer in bringing the Fine Needle Aspiration Biopsies to pediatrics and wrote the first monograph on the topic. He has written 83 peer reviewed articles as well as numerous other articles and presentations.

He is a combination of an academician and a practical business man, which has made him an invaluable asset to Pediatric Pathology and the Louisville community as a whole.

Though he has retired from Pediatric Pathology, he continues to consult with the Department of Pediatrics. John is married to Kathleen May, and together they have 5 children: Susan Theresa, Mary Elizabeth, Louis Joseph, Michael Vincent and Nancy Adele.
George Fischer graduated from the University of Florida and immediately began fighter pilot training with the United States Air Force. Upon completing his service, he began his business career with IBM where he developed his business acumen: Respect individuals, excel in all endeavors and provide exceptional customer service.

In 1969 he came to the metro area and formed Metridata Computing Inc, which advanced him into service with Governor John Y. Brown as Secretary of the Governor’s Cabinet. “Beginning a career with the best big company, becoming an entrepreneur, working in government and having the support of community and family cemented my business foundation. Giving to those who have not been as fortunate is just something you do,” says George.

His primary focus of community service has focused on education and healthcare, serving as a UofL Trustee, co-founding the Governor’s Scholars Program and working with Center for Interfaith Relations. Fischer has served on multiple community boards through the years and today is active with School Choice Scholarships, where more than 4,000 kids have been allowed to attend the school of their choice, and The Family Community Clinic, which he co-founded with a mission to provide a safety net for all who have no insurance and need medical care.

George is married to Mary Lee and together they have 5 children: Lynn, Greg, Mark, Paul, and Chris, along with 12 grandchildren.

Bob & Beverly Petry
Serving Kosair Charities’ mission to provide for a child’s medical needs is made possible by the generosity of donors. Donors who have designated the charity as a beneficiary in their will or estate plan are invited to participate in an honored group – the W. Barnett Owen Society.

The Society is named in honor of Dr. W. Barnett Owen, the first orthopedic specialist in Kentucky. He shared a vision for improving the lives of children throughout the state and Southern Indiana and provided the momentum for building the Kosair Crippled Children’s Hospital. As a member of Kosair Shrine Temple, Owen presented a plan to his fellow Nobles to fund a free convalescent home for children. His initial idea grew, and as a result, the Kosair Crippled Children’s Hospital proudly accepted its first patient in 1926.

Today, Dr. Owen’s mission to serve Kosair Kids lives on in the Society and its members who have made helping children their life’s legacy.

In the past year, Kosair Charities has proudly welcomed several new members to the Society.

W. Barnett Owen Society
Hundreds of children dressed in their Halloween best attended Kosair Charities’ Kosair Kids Night at the Louisville Zoo on Wednesday, Oct. 17.

Kosair Charities rented out the zoo for one night so our Kosair Kids from many of our supported agencies, including the Spina Bifida Association of Kentucky, Greenhill Therapy, The KIDS Center, and the Kentucky School for the Blind, could go trick-or-treating.

We invited special needs and medically fragile children, many of whom are in wheelchairs and walkers, to this event. “Our goal is to make trick-or-treating easy and fun for them,” said Kosair Charities Program Coordinator Stephanie Smith. “These children would have a difficult time attending the trick-or-treating at the zoo when it is open to the public because of the massive crowds and long lines. This way our kids have the time and room they need to have an enjoyable trick-or-treating experience.”

Every child who attended left with a smile on their face and a big bag of candy.
Boo to You

The Boo to You Halloween Party hosted by Dustin and Jill Childers, parents to Kosair Kid Addie, and their neighbors, The Young’s, was held at their home on Saturday, Oct. 27. The Childers started hosting this party for their friends and family a few years ago, and as it grew, they knew they could use it to raise money to help other Kosair Kids.

Over 350 people, including many Kosair Kids, enjoyed the hay rides, pumpkin patch, pony rides, face painting, bounce houses, bubble truck, delicious food, outdoor movie, and the haunted trail. The night was a huge success and raised over $11,000 for Kosair Charities.

Thank you to the Childers and Young families for hosting this event, to all of the sponsors, and to the University of Louisville Panhellenic Council for all the volunteers!

Parade of Kids

To start off the evening at our annual Dreams Take Flight, we honored a few of our Kosair Kids. Throughout the evening videos were played that showed the children and how Kosair Charities had helped them. Meet the Kosair Kids who participated in our Dreams Take Flight Parade of Kids.

Matthew Ward, the great-grandson of Kosair Charities Chairman of the Board Jerry Ward, was born with multiple medical problems. He has had over a dozen surgeries and has been helped tremendously by Kosair Charities. Matthew is now 7 years old and loves Tae-Kwon-Do.

Lexi Palmer was diagnosed with infantile botulism at just 7 weeks old. She is now a healthy and happy 3-year-old who loves to do gymnastics and is very happy to have a new baby sister.

Nate Payne (right) was born with spina bifida. He is now 6 years old and is a great big brother to his 2 siblings. Nate has been helped by the Spina Bifida Association of Kentucky, where his mom, Colleen, is the executive director.

Addie Childers was born, she was entangled in her umbilical cord. Her injuries resulted in a type of cerebral palsy. Addie is now able to get around well with her walker and has had her feeding tube removed. She is now 6 years old and brings smiles to the faces of everyone she meets.

Sascha Texas (above) suffered a stroke at birth, resulting in cerebral palsy. She received therapy at the Cerebral Palsy Kids Center. Sasha is in third grade and loves spending time with her grandpa.

Lashley Davenport (right) was born with the condition of microtia, or in layman’s terms, without ears. He is helped by Heuser Hearing, and his plastic surgeon is building him his own new ears. Lashley is now 6 year old, and loves to play dress-up and wear Halloween costumes.
Madeleine Ramires was born a healthy little girl. When a soft spot on her head began to worry her parents, they had an MRI and other tests done to check on it. Everything ended up being fine, but the bills were outrageous, so Kosair Charities stepped in and helped pay them. Madeleine also won the Cutest Smiles Contest at Park Community Federal Credit Union!

Winslow Pipes (left) was diagnosed with Pierre-Robin sequence, which caused bilateral conductive hearing loss. Kosair Charities paid for his special BAHA hearing aid that insurance would not cover. Winslow is now 6 years old and loves to play soccer.

Elizabeth Bromley spent her first 95 days in neonatal intensive care and has endured open heart surgery, chronic lung disease, and a tracheotomy. Now Elizabeth is 7 years old and is doing much better. She receives help from Greenhill Therapy and the Cerebral Palsy Kids Center. Elizabeth loves to cheerlead and play in her playhouse. (Learn more about Elizabeth on page 3.)

Tessa Nielson is a cancer survivor. Tessa was diagnosed with rhabdomyosarcoma shortly before her 4th birthday. She completed a 47-week chemotherapy protocol in December 2004. She is now 12 years old and participates in Camp Quality each year!
Fat Boy Golf Classic:

The Fat Boy Golf Classic was held Aug. 18 at Wildwood Country Club. This annual tournament, run by Shane and Kim Harding, was truly a family affair. Their daughter, Madison, sold cookies for Kosair Kids, and Hank, their son, helped with the putting contest. This tournament was a huge success as always and brought in more than $1200.

Tee Off For Tots:

The 2nd Annual Tee Off for Tots Golf Scramble was held on Aug. 25 at Hidden Creek Golf Club in Sellersburg, Ind. This tournament, started by Mike Meredith in 2011, raised over $2,700 this year for Kosair Charities. A special thanks to Kohl’s Cares for Kids for being a major sponsor for the second year in a row.
Just “FORE” Kids Golf Classic:

Bobby Clarkson and committee outdid themselves again this year for the 16th Annual Just “FORE” Kids Golf Classic to benefit Ronald McDonald House and Kosair Charities. The tournament, held at Hurstbourne Country Club on Aug. 27, raised over $180,000. This year, the golfers got to meet Kosair Kid Lexi Palmer and her family, who told the story of how Kosair Charities had helped them.

Flexible Packaging Golf Scramble:
The Flexible Packaging Golf Scramble was a new tournament this year for Kosair Charities. Mike Edlin, CEO of Flexible Packaging, and his wife, Debbie, hosted this wonderful tournament played on Sept. 20 at Lake Forest Country Club to benefit both Kosair Charities and the Home of the Innocents. The golfers finished the evening with cocktails, hors d’oeuvres, and an auction. The event raised over $40,000 for the kids of Home of the Innocents and Kosair Charities, and an incredible new partnership was born!

UPS Golf Classic:
The 17th Annual UPS Golf Classic took place on Sept. 22 at Quail Chase Golf Course. Over 170 golfers came out to show their support for Kosair Charities. A big thanks goes out to the UPS Golf Committee and all of our wonderful sponsors who made it possible to raise over $70,000 for our Kosair Kids.

LouChem Golf Scramble:
LouChem’s Annual Golf Tournament was held on Oct. 13 at Shawnee Golf Course. This year’s tournament marks the 8th consecutive year that LouChem Federal Credit Union and Kosair Charities have partnered up for a beautiful day of golf. Over 100 golfers woke up bright and early on a perfect Saturday morning to show their support for our Kosair Kids. We are already looking forward to next year’s tournament!

We are greatly appreciative to all of the LouChem staff that worked tirelessly on the tournament for our kids. Thanks also go out to Diana Graham (tournament chair), Michele Resch, CEO of LouChem, all participating golfers, the numerous tournament sponsors, and everyone else who made this tournament possible. This year the tournament raised $7550 for Kosair Charities, and in its 8 year run, they have donated over $40,000 for our Kosair Kids.
O’Charley’s Golf Classic:
The 14th Annual O’Charley’s Golf Classic raised over $12,000 for Kosair Charities. Julie Walker, general manager of O’Charley’s Hurstbourne Lane, hosted another great day of golf at Quail Chase on Sept. 26 for O’Charley’s vendors, staff, and patrons. All O’Charley’s locations in the area also sold “Kosair Kites” to raise money for our kids. Thank you for your continued support, O’Charley’s.

Kosair Classic:
Kosair Classic, formerly known as Cole’s Classic, was held on a gorgeous Monday, Oct. 15, at Audubon Country Club. This year the tournament was sponsored by CaféPress and we had a sellout crowd. Makers Mark Ambassadors and other guests were invited to join the golfers in the evening for cocktails, hors d’oeuvres, and a silent auction. A Makers Mark bourbon tasting was led by Bill Samuels Jr., Maker’s Mark chairman emeritus. Over $54,000 was raised for Kosair Charities, and the committee is already working to make next year’s classic even bigger and better!
As asked to summarize his Kosair Charities experiences, the first story Bob Petry tells involves a woman dressed as a clown knocking on his car window. She was collecting money at a roadblock in New Albany, Ind., and seeing Bob’s Shriner license plate, she wanted to tell him something:

“She said, ‘I’m a flight nurse and have taken lot of kids to Cincinnati’ (referring to the Shriners Hospital for Children, a Verified Burn Center). She wanted to share that,” Bob says. “When you wear the fez, people tell you stories about Kosair Children’s Hospital.”

Diversified efforts

Bob and his wife, Beverly, have been involved with the Shrine since the 1970s, and have become more involved over the past 12 years since they retired.

He began his career as a teacher, left to work in manufacturing engineering, then returned to school administration, focusing on technology.

Beverly taught high school for 30 years in Jefferson County public schools, focusing on business education.

Along the way, they’ve built a long list of Kosair Charities activities. They have represented the organization at everything from the FFA convention to the St. James Court Art Show, developing many friendships along the way.

“We like how widespread Kosair Charities is,” Bob says. “For example, they support the Bellewood Presbyterian Home for Children and Home of the Innocents. They support the University of Louisville’s research. It is so diversified. A lot of shrines envy Louisville.”

An unseen gift

Beyond their generous commitment of time, Bob and Beverly have also bestowed an unseen gift on Kosair Charities by naming the charities in their estate plan. Because of their generosity, Kosair Kids will receive help in perpetuity.

By their example, the Petrys inspire others to consider making the same choice. Those who recognize Kosair Charities with a planned or deferred gift become members of the W. Barnett Owen Society, named for the physician who was instrumental in building the Kosair Crippled Children Hospital. Dr. Owen was a staunch advocate for children’s health care and was the first orthopedic specialist in Kentucky.

“Whenever we’re out in public and I’m wearing my Kosair Charities sweatshirt,” Beverly says, “I constantly have people tell me about a child or grandchild who’s been helped.”

As volunteers, Bob says, “The giving that you do touches you. We give to schools and colleges too, but Kosair Charities is unique.”
Lunch and Learn

Kosair Charities is pleased to invite our donors to join us for Lunch and Learn. In addition to a delicious lunch, this new program offers entertaining presentations about the mission of Kosair Charities—how it started, how it is carried out today, and how donor contributions make a difference for thousands of Kosair Kids.

Lunch and Learn is our way of saying “thank you” and is complimentary for Kosair Charities donors. However, seating is limited, so please call (502-637-7696) or email (traidy@kosair.org) right away to reserve your space.

Lunch and Learn is held in the Kosair Charities Community Room at the Sam Swope Kosair Charities Center, 982 Eastern Parkway, from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Upcoming sessions:
Nov. 27: Bradley B. Keller, M.D., Kosair Charities Chair in Pediatric Heart Surgery Research and director of pediatric cardiovascular research in the Cardiovascular Innovation Institute.

Research Update: Dr. Keller will brief us about how research is improving outcomes and solving many of the life-threatening illnesses faced by medically fragile children. He will also talk about developments we can expect in the future.

Dec. 13: Tom Owen, Ph.D., University of Louisville's Community Engagement Associate and Professor of the Libraries.

The History of Pediatric Healthcare in Kentucky: Dr. Owen will tell the story of Kosair Charities’ important role in children’s health care and how it has changed over time.

1000 Club Social

On October 25th Kosair Charities 1000 Club held its first annual fall social. There were 40 plus members in attendance. The purpose of the social was to first thank all of our generous 1000 Club members who have committed making an annual gift of $100 or more to Kosair Charities, and secondly have them on campus to show them how their generous gifts are helping kids here in Kentucky and Southern Indiana.

Each member received an advanced copy of our Gifts & Grants report that highlighted over $18 million dollars to help change the lives of our “Kosair Kids”. Members were also shown advanced examples of updates being made to our historical area. To find out more about the 1000 Club or learn how to become a member please contact Eric Churchill at 502-637-7696 or email echurchill@kosair.org.
Baskin-Robbins:
A big thank you to everyone who bought a Kosair Cone at Baskin-Robbins during July and August. Baskin-Robbins stores in the state raised over $2,000 for Kosair Charities.

U of L Triangle Fraternity's Gravity Car Chase for Children:
The Triangle Fraternity, made up of U of L engineering and science students, hosted a gravity car race to benefit Kosair Charities on Oct. 27 at Iroquois Park. Teams of five sent gravity cars and their driver flying downhill and competed for the best times. The men of Triangle raised nearly $2,500 and plan on making this an annual event. Dollhouse Donation:
Diana Riebel of Mt. Washington donated a beautiful one-of-a-kind dollhouse to Kosair Charities. This dollhouse was made by Noble Joe Farmer of the Bedouin Temple in Oklahoma and is valued at over $8,000. The house, named the Creole Victoria, is designed to look like the Vieux Carre in New Orleans’ French Quarter. Diana asked that the dollhouse be played with by children, and we plan on making that happen!
Kids Stuff Sale:
Suzette Decker, owner of KidStuff Children’s Consignment Sales, donated over $2,000 to Kosair Charities. Suzette allows customers to do some “pre-sale” shopping on the day before her consignment sale opens to the public if they make a donation of $5 or more to Kosair Charities. She hosts sales in the spring, fall, and during the holidays. To learn more about the KidStuff Sale visit www.kidstuffsale.com or “like” the KidStuff Facebook Page.

Commonwealth Credit Union:
For the sixth consecutive year, Commonwealth Credit Union in Frankfort, Ky., collected stuffed animals for the Kosair Charities Bears on Patrol Program. They collected more than 1,000 bears. The bears collected by the staff at the Credit Union will not only go to children in Frankfort, but will help children all over Kentucky. Thank you, Commonwealth Credit Union, for your continued support of Bears on Patrol.

Softball Tournament:
Andrea and Casey Palmer, parents of Kosair Kid Lexi, hosted the Third Annual Co-Ed Softball Tournament and Kids Fair at Dawley Park in Radcliff, Ky., on July 28. The tournament raised over $12,000 for Kosair Charities. Thank you to the Palmers, their committee, and all the sponsors that made this tournament such a huge success!
JammaCaps:
JammaCaps are long, pointed, fleece hats with a tassel on the end that are perfect for outdoor winter activities. Each JammaCap is homemade and is long enough to double as a scarf or face wrap. JammaCap has partnered with Kosair Charities and will donate 10% of all sales to our Kosair Kids. These make a great gift for the holidays! Order yours today at www.jammacaps.com and support Kosair Charities.

Art Donation:
Cass Davenport, mother of Kosair Kid Lashley Davenport (see page 22), presented a beautiful one-of-a-kind piece of metal art to Chairman of the Board Jerry Ward during the cocktail hour at the Dreams Take Flight Gala of Gifts and Grants. Cass created this metal sculpture to thank Kosair Charities for all the help they have provided her son. Thank you for a spectacular piece of art. Pictured above are Cass, Todd, and Lashley Davenport.

Kosair Cookout:
H.A.M. Henderson Lodge #515 held a cookout this summer and the proceeds were donated to help the kids of Kosair Charities. Thank you for your support!

Gilda’s Club:
Some of the children, ages 6-11, from Gilda’s Club, presented a check for over $1,000 to the Kosair Charities Board of Directors. They raised this money at their annual carnival to mark the end of a weeklong camp. The carnival is held for all of their friends and families, and the money raised at the event is given to the campers charity of choice, which this year was Kosair Charities!
State Fair:
Thank you to everyone who stopped by and donated at the Kosair Charities booth in the South Wing at the Kentucky State Fair. We sold chances on a 1938 Chevy Deluxe Coupe, which was given away on Nov. 11. During the State Fair, we were able to raise more than $25,000 to help Kosair Kids who have had or are in need of an organ transplant.

St. James Court Art Show:
Kosair Charities had another successful year at The St. James Court Art Show, where we sold several thousand dollars worth of flower pots painted by local school kids in grades 3-12. Our Growing in the Art of Caring Project encourages children to help our Kosair Kids. Thank you to students at Sacred Heart Academy, Presentation Academy, Assumption High School, Brandeis Middle School, Our Lady of Lourdes, Westport Middle School, and Brownie Troop 2609 for painting such beautiful flower pots.

U of L:
The UofL pep band at the direction of Alan Jay Greener added a spirited sound to UofL Cares Day at Kosair Charities. The event recognized UofL employees who support Kosair Charities through UofL’s workplace giving campaign.

PGA Golf Day:
Eric Gilliland, Audubon Country Club golf pro, played 100 holes of golf in one day as part of the PGA Golf Day to raise money for Kosair Charities. Eric also sits on the committee for the Kosair Classic Golf Tournament and has supported our Kosair Kids for many years. Eric raised over $1,500 for Kosair Charities.

Stepping Stones:
The annual Stepping Stones event hosted by Owen Funeral Homes and the Owen family was held Sept. 13 at Valley View Church. The event included lunch and a concert by Brian Free and Assurance. Admission was the price of a stuffed animal donated to the Kosair Charities Bears on Patrol Program. The event brought in hundreds of plush toys.
High Flyers

Antique Tractor Show:

Reach Out for Kosair Kids:
Over 300 people attended the first annual Reach for Kosair Kids Fest that was put on by the Glasgow Shrine Club and sponsored by Willie 94.1. The event raised $11,000 for Kosair Charities. A quilt that had local Kosair Kids’ names stitched into it was auctioned off for $3,200.

TJ Roc Museum Band and Thomas Jefferson High School Alum give back:
On July 13, the alumni of Thomas Jefferson High School held their reunion at Smyrna Inn. The TJ Roc Museum Band was playing and decided they would like to give their pay and tips to a charity. Band member Hank Watson, a Shriner, suggested they give to Kosair Charities. The crowd passed a hat around and the bar owners made a generous donation. The event collected $500 for our Kosair Kids. Thank you for your generosity.

Sam Swope Road Rally:
The 13th Annual Sam Swope Road Rally took place on a sunny Sunday, July 22. Hundreds of motorcycle enthusiasts rode a scenic 118 miles beginning at Sam Swope Auto Center, making a stop at the Makers Mark Distillery in Loretto, Ky., and ending at the Kosair Shrine Temple. The day included a silent auction, door prizes, raffles and cash prizes. A 2012 Harley-Davidson Heritage Softail was given away. The Road Rally raised over $240,000 for Kosair Charities and our Kosair Kids. Thank you, Sam Swope, the Kosair Shrine Motor Corp, and the Riasok Shrine Club (see more about them on page 7) for making this event thrive year after year and for raising an enormous amount of money for our Kosair Kids. Protecting the Most Precious Gift of All

Since 1923, Kosair Charities has had one primary mission – helping children in need. Kosair Charities knows that the quality of a child’s tomorrow depends largely on the quality of health, medical treatment, and support a child receives today. That’s why over the years, Kosair Charities has given more than $295 million to serve thousands of children and provide them a second chance at life.
