Meet Sister Susan Gatz
Kosair Kid® 1951

When she was 3 years old, Susan Gatz began losing strength in her left arm. Her parents didn’t know what to make of it. It wasn’t until Susan’s mother read about the effects of polio in the local newspaper that she knew what could be affecting her daughter.

Susan was taken to the family physician, Dr. Handleman, who agreed that she did have symptoms of polio, possibly contracted from the local swimming pool. Her left arm was significantly weaker than her right and became nearly immobile. Dr. Handleman told Susan’s parents she most likely would not use her arm again, but her parents were determined to make sure that wouldn’t happen.

Susan spent the next six months in and out of therapy at Kosair Crippled Children Hospital. She was always treated as an outpatient but to keep up with the progress she was making, her parents worked diligently on therapy at home.

Susan remembers the nurses giving her ice cream and telling her she could only eat it using her left arm. She laughed as she recalled that she never had to work so hard for a bite of ice cream, and how difficult it was not to just dig in face first!

She also remembers a tabletop sling at the hospital that was held up by a spring that allowed her to move her arm with ease. Her father replicated the device so she could use it at home. As her arm grew stronger, her parents would have Susan walk on her arms around the house like a wheelbarrow so that she would build muscle mass, while making her rehabilitation seem like a game.

Susan’s therapies were successful, and today her left arm is fully functional, although she says it is still slightly weaker than her right. She credits the hospital’s state-of-the-art treatment and her parents’ determination to use those therapies at home for her recovery. Susan said, “Of all the children with polio that Dr. Handleman treated at the time, I made the most miraculous recovery.” Susan is forever grateful to all of the nurses and staff at Kosair Crippled Children Hospital.

Today, Sister Susan is the president of the Sisters of Charity of Nazareth. She and her fellow sisters work for the dignity and equality of women and other oppressed people in the church and society.

She often travels to India, Nepal, Botswana, and Belize for mission work. Thanks to donors like you, Sister Susan is helping to change the lives of women around the world.
Meet Kosair Kids®
Jordan, Jenna & Jac

When we found out we were having triplets, I was so nervous,” Lisa Downs says. “How are we going to handle three babies? I was so happy, but at the same time I was scared and worried.”

The day the triplets — Jacob, Jenna, and Jordan — were born is still a blur to Lisa and Terry Downs, who live in Henryville, Ind., and have a daughter six years older than the triplets. Terry got a phone call at seven in the morning saying he needed to rush to University of Louisville Hospital, where Lisa had been staying for a week on bedrest.

Although it was five weeks before her due date, Lisa delivered three beautiful babies by 10:20 that morning. They were whisked away to the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit to be given supplemental oxygen and extra care. It was several hours before Lisa could be wheeled back to the NICU to see them resting in their incubators.

Three days later, the family’s life was turned upside down again. Lisa began having heart palpitations and high blood pressure, and her heart wasn’t able to pump enough blood to her body — a rare condition called postpartum cardiomyopathy. They were worried she wouldn’t make it home to care for her babies.

“A scary time
“It was really scary,” Terry recalls. “I was just thinking, ‘What am I gonna do if I lose her? I’ve got 3 more kids to take care of, and I can’t do this without her!’”

To the family’s relief, Lisa began to recover and was released from the hospital. Jordan came home at 14 days, and Jacob two days later. Jenna was in the hospital for a full month because she was having trouble breathing. While it was tough having all three at home, the brave parents soon got them on a feeding routine that worked for the whole family.

That’s when the hospital bills started coming in.

On top of Lisa’s medical expenses, the Downs had three NICU stays to pay for, and Lisa was unable to go back to work because of her heart disease. Lisa says: “I remember being laid up in bed and just thinking, ‘Oh, my gosh, how are we going to make it?’ It was just so overwhelming. That’s when we called...”
Meet Kosair Kids®

Jordan, Jenna & Jacob Downs

on Kosair Charities. I don’t know how we would have made it without them!"

Terry and Lisa applied to the Kosair Charities Special Kids Program for help with the triplets’ hospital bills, and because of the generosity of people like you, we were able to help them.

Happy, healthy triplets

Now Jacob, Jenna, and Jordan are happy and healthy 7-year-olds. They love each other and love making new friends. They have struggled with speech delays, but Kosair Charities covered the cost of speech therapy, occupational therapy, and ear tubes to get them back on track.

Jenna is involved in gymnastics and she loves cheering. Her parents describe her as a girly-girl, but she’s not scared of anything.

Jordan is a great basketball player and baseball player. He’s a sensitive guy who doesn’t want to disappoint anyone.

Jacob is the goofy one in the family. He’s athletic too, and plays baseball and basketball with his brother.

All three are great Kosair Kids® whose love for each other is obvious to everyone they meet. But they’ve come this far only because of the support of generous Kosair Charities supporters like you.

Terry says: “If it weren’t for Kosair Charities, I don’t know where we would be today. I remember a time when two out of three kids needed tubes in their ears and we didn’t know if we were going to have to choose who needed it more. That’s when Kosair Charities stepped up again because there was no way we could afford it all.”

“It’s so nice to think that people are so willing to give and to help people who really need it, like we did,” Lisa says.
Kosair Charities Grants: Meeting the Mission

For almost 100 years, Kosair Charities has had one mission — helping children. Kosair Charities supports over 100 agencies across Kentucky and Southern Indiana. Thanks to you, we are able to provide better tomorrows for thousands of children each year through our Special Kids Program, grants, and community partnerships. In 2015-16, over $10 million in gifts and grants were given to our supported agencies (see list of supported agencies on page 7).

Each February, Kosair Charities opens our annual grant request application, welcoming non-profit organizations in the region to request money that will directly benefit children. Grants can cover an array of things including accessible playgrounds, state-of-the-art medical equipment, research in pediatric medicine, medical transportation and more.

Kosair Charities has helped purchase new property for organizations like the Home of the Innocents, so they can expand to help more Kosair Kids®. Kosair Charities also houses multiple non-profit organizations on our two campuses. These non-profits, which include the Kids Center for Pediatric Therapies, Epilepsy Foundation, Bluegrass Center for Autism, and many more, all have their office space rent-free through a charitable lease grant.

In 2015, Kosair Charities donated $1 million to St. Joseph Children’s Home to build new cottages for the children who live there. Organizations that have been granted over $1 million from Kosair Charities have a statue at their location known as the “Silent Messenger,” which depicts a Shriner holding a child and her crutches. This statue signifies the commitment of our community to better the lives of children.

This would not be possible without the support of our donors. Thanks to you, St. Joseph Children’s Home now has two “Silent Messengers,” one on Frankfort Avenue and one on Brownsboro Road. Every time people drive by one of these, or any of the other 22 statues in the area, they should know that their donations have been used to help children.

Kosair Charities believes in making your donations help as many Kosair Kids® as possible. We strive to make your gifts go to projects that will help our community be the best place for children to grow up. We truly appreciate all of your support and your trust in us to make sure that children across Kentucky and Southern Indiana receive the best health care possible.

Corporate Kite Club Spotlight:
R.H. Clarkson Insurance Group

Bobby Clarkson thinks BIG! Then he makes things happen. In 1964, he founded the Robert H. Clarkson Insurance Group. As the only employee with one product, he did not have large startup capital or a list of high-profile contacts. However, he did have the belief in three simple things: attitude, effort and persistence.

Fifty years later, this one-man agency now has 32 employees with a presence in all 50 states. R.H. Clarkson Insurance Group is successful because Clarkson emphasizes that the entire team must be committed and have the heart to do their best for a client. Not only is Clarkson dedicated to his clients, he is also fiercely committed to our community.

Philanthropy is a high priority for Clarkson. The Foster Brooks Pro Celebrity Golf Tournament was a major fundraiser for Kosair Charities. After many years of success, the event ended. That’s when Clarkson saw a door open for another BIG idea: the Just Fore Kids Golf Classic. This golf outing does not include celebrities, but instead focuses on gathering local business leaders to create a premier golf outing to support Kosair Kids.

Today, the Just Fore Kids Golf Classic is unprecedented in the region. Celebrating its 20th anniversary on August 29th, 2016, the outing has raised nearly $1.7 million to support Kosair Charities and Ronald McDonald House Charities. The golf outing is now a time honored tradition at Hurstbourne Country Club and will continue for many years to come.

We are proud to have R.H. Clarkson Insurance Group as a member of the Corporate Kite Club. As their board chairman and founder, Clarkson is proving attitude, effort and persistence brings results to protect the health and well-being for the kids of Kosair Charities.
The Magic and the Wonder Casts a Spell for Helping Kids

The Magic and the Wonder is bringing the art of magic to the forefront of entertainment in Louisville. What started as just an idea to put together a small magic show to benefit a local charity has transformed into one of the premier magic shows in the area.

With a captivated audience of over 2,000 people each year, the magic show wows the crowd and raises thousands of dollars for Kosair Charities and The Kids Center for Pediatric Therapies — both of which seek to better the health and well-being of children in Kentucky and southern Indiana.

Kosair Charities’ board member and local magician Patrick Miller, along with his wife, Janice, began producing The Magic and the Wonder in 2008 at the Scottish Rite in downtown Louisville. In the beginning, The Magic and the Wonder was a series of small shows for audiences of no more than a few hundred people.

As the show’s popularity grew, they moved to The Louisville Palace for a few years, then found a permanent home in The Kentucky Center’s Whitney Hall in 2014.

Whitney Hall seats 2,377 people and is the destination for Broadway touring shows and many other world-class performances throughout the year. With this highly touted venue, close-up magic in the lobby before the show, Paul Emmick as the emcee, and internationally-acclaimed magicians performing each year, The Magic and the Wonder will charm audiences of all ages for many years to come.

With past acts including Lance Burton, Jason Bishop and Rick Thomas, The Magic and the Wonder is no stranger to hosting the “best of the best” in the world of magic. That’s why it was no surprise that this year’s show on May 22 included knockout performances by Mac King, Charlie Frye & Company, and Stephen Knowles. Selling a record number of seats, 2016’s show was the perfect way to lead into The Magic and the Wonder’s 10th year—which promises to be bigger and better than ever.

In its 9-year history, The Magic and the Wonder has netted over $165,000 for Kosair Charities and other organizations supporting children’s medical needs. Thanks to the Millers, the Louisville Magic Club, the magic show committee, and the show’s many sponsors for showing us the magic of helping kids.
Kosair Charities Celebrates Derby with Hats for Hope

In April, Kosair Charities was fortunate to be the benefitting charity for the annual Hats for Hope Derby Hat Auction. Hats for Hope is a fun-filled evening featuring a silent auction of beautiful new, designer and gently used Derby hats, and gift baskets.

Models touted the latest spring fashions provided by Talbots while guests sipped on “Pink Hopes,” our signature pink drink, and enjoyed scrumptious hors d’oeuvres and desserts. Attendees tried on hats, took photos with friends, and viewed photos of cancer survivors and others that we want to remember for their courageous fight against cancer. The Hats for Hope event was a great way to start the Derby season.

Hats for Hope was started by the Yum! Foundation to raise awareness of breast cancer. The committee of volunteers who work tirelessly each year to make this event a success decided it was time to raise awareness for not only breast cancer, but all cancer, including pediatric — and that’s where Kosair Charities came in.

Through partnerships with Kids Cancer Alliance, Camp Quality, Gilda’s Club, Leukemia and Lymphoma Foundation, The James Graham Brown Cancer Center, and many more, the funds raised at Hats for Hope will better the lives of children affected by cancer across Kentucky and Southern Indiana.

Hats for Hope was held on April 21 at the Triple Crown Pavilion. Over 300 Derby hats and 100 gift baskets were auctioned off to raise over $40,000 for Kosair Kids®. Thanks for the support of our generous sponsors, including Lloyd’s Florist, RJ Corman, Golden State Foods, Tri-Arrow Aluminum, Merrill Lynch, Accuserv, and Talbots.

The Hats for Hope committee’s work doesn’t just stop after putting on a top-notch event. The morning after Derby, members of the committee and numerous volunteers wake up early to sit in the lobbies of hotels all over the city to collect hats.

It is difficult to travel with a Derby hat, so many guests who are flying back home after a weekend of fun in Kentucky will donate their hats. The committee already has collected over 100 hats for the 2017 event.

The Hats for Hope committee will volunteer at the Gold Ribbon Festival at Kosair Charities on Sept. 18 celebrating pediatric cancer survivors and showing support for children currently under treatment for or recently diagnosed with cancer. The committee will be making Derby fascinators with the children.

If you have a Derby hat or fascinator in your closet that you would like to donate, or if you would like to help with the Hats for Hope event, please contact Stephanie Smith at ssmith@kosair.org or call 502-637-7696.
Mike and Debbie Thomas have been Kosair Charities donors for over fifteen years, but their history with us goes back far beyond that. Mike grew up just a few blocks from Kosair Crippled Children Hospital on Eastern Parkway.

He volunteered at the hospital throughout his childhood by mowing, pulling weeds and performing other grounds maintenance. Debbie also volunteered at our campus on Eastern Parkway at the Cerebral Palsy Kids Center (now Kids Center for Pediatric Therapies).

Volunteering and giving back have been lifelong priorities for both Debbie and Mike. It didn’t hurt that that they both worked at BellSouth/AT&T. The company’s community-minded spirit led them to volunteer at many of Kosair Charities’ partners, including Home of the Innocents and WHAS Crusade for Children.

Ten years ago, Debbie and Mike did something remarkable — they became the first-ever monthly donors to Kosair Charities.

“We feel like this is our way of saying thanks for 10 healthy grandchildren,” Debbie says. They want to help other families that haven’t been so lucky, and giving an automatic monthly gift on their credit card helps them do that without missing a beat. “I would forget to write a check every month,” Debbie says. “This way, we don’t have to think about it.”

Debbie likes to think that everybody can help some way: “It all adds up. What if every donor gave a monthly gift?” Kosair Charities’ new Frequent Flyer Circle recognizes donors who do just that — commit to an automatic monthly gift via credit card or electronic funds transfer.

You, too, can become a member of our Frequent Flyer Circle and know that your monthly gift is helping children all year long. For more information, contact Sommer Lally at 502-637-7696 or slally@kosair.org.
Pitt Academy
The kids of Pitt Academy, one of Kosair Charities’ supported agencies, have been working hard to give back to their community. Students have held “Community Give Back” days to better the lives of their neighbors, as well as orchestrated dress-down days to raise funds for Kosair Charities. In total, the students raised $160.55. There’s nothing better than Kosair Kids helping other Kosair Kids. Thank you, Pitt Academy.
